The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), organized in 1970, has evolved into an agency that establishes national policies and manages and conserves our oceanic, coastal, and atmospheric resources. An organizational element within NOAA, the Office of Fisheries, is responsible for fisheries policy and the direction of the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS).

In addition to its formal publications, NMFS uses the NOAA Technical Memorandum series to issue informal scientific and technical publications when complete formal review and editorial processing are not appropriate or feasible. Documents within this series, however, reflect sound professional work and may be referenced in the formal scientific and technical literature.

SWFSC Technical Memorandums are accessible online at the SWFSC web site (<http://swfsc.noaa.gov>). Print copies are available from the National Technical Information Service, 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA22151 (<http://www.ntis.gov>).

NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS

This TM series is used for documentation and timely communication of preliminary results, interim reports, or special purpose information. The TMs have not received complete formal review, editorial control, or detailed editing.

Catalog Content

This catalog presents identification photographs of 1,291 Pacific coast bottlenose dolphins (Tursiops truncatus) obtained during dedicated research surveys carried out between 1981 and 2014 in five coastal study areas: Ensenada, Mexico; San Quintín, Mexico; San Diego, CA; Orange County, CA; and Santa Barbara, CA. These images were primarily collected by the Southwest Fisheries Science Center (National Marine Fisheries Service, NMFS), the Cetacean Behavior Laboratory (San Diego State University, CBL), and Scripps Whale Acoustics Lab (Scripps Institution of Oceanography, SIO). Some images were provided to the CBL by collaborators in the U.S. and Mexico.

The overarching objectives of making this catalog publicly available are twofold: (1) to facilitate regional and international cooperation and collaboration between current and future research groups collecting data on Pacific coast bottlenose dolphins; and (2) to provide an individual identification numbering scheme and standardized images of Pacific coast bottlenose dolphins that can be used for comparison by other research groups and organizations. This catalog is available on request in PDF format and online at SWFSC <https://swfsc.noaa.gov/> as part of the Cetacean Health and Life History Program and OBIS SEAMAP <http://seamap.env.duke.edu/> as part of the California Dolphin Online Catalog (CDOC).

Image Quality

When the type specimen photograph was selected for display in this catalog, the best image was selected from a given sighting, cropped and resized if needed. This process can result in some loss of resolution in this PDF catalog but the original native resolution images are archived and linked to the catalog so if a potential match is made, it can be confirmed with the original photograph(s).

Terms and Definitions

Each catalog page contains one dorsal fin image, which may be in left or right orientation. The textual data shown with each individual dolphin image provides the following information: (1) the catalog identification (ID) number systematically assigned to a dolphin after photographing its dorsal fin for the first time; (2) the image file name (see Figs. 1 and 2 below); (3) the date the photograph was taken; and (4) the first year the dolphin was photographed.

This catalog contains images of many individual dolphins sighted in one or more of our five Pacific coast study areas (see above). When type specimen photographs were selected for display in this catalog, the best images were selected from sightings in all areas. Thus, in Figure 1 below, the best image was from a sighting in the Santa Barbara study area. Typical formats for image file names are also shown in Figures 1 and 2. Formatting of the file name as shown in Figure 1 is the most commonly used type, with more than half of the 1,291 images labeled in this manner. Figure 2 shows the standardized file name format that applies to the smaller subset of image files.
